5. Board Roles, Responsibilities, Expectations and Committees (20 minutes)
We went through the responsibility section of the orientation package and the board meeting roles as adopted at the March 16 meeting. Rhonda read the general expectations and responsibilities. Board members supported these as accurately describing their understanding of their responsibilities.

Why be part of RPIRG:

- gain sense of how boards work
- fun way to meet new people
- what it stood for, ideas, what it could be
- learn about consensus
- experience, leadership, ACT!, network
- view world from different perspectives
- go above and beyond what others do
- best way to figure out what RPIRG is
- make friends, learn, cool events
- try something, get experience

Committees: Laurie described staff relations in terms of hiring and checking in, Charene talked about policy and the interesting place this can be as we evaluate and evolve current policy, Ahmed discussed finance and expressed some frustration that other than budget development, paying staff and signing cheques, he has not felt very involved, and Clint talked about the funding decisions made by the Applications Assessment committee. We noted that this committee structure is up for discussion as we look at staff and board organization.

*Today's Roles:       Superscribe and Facilitator: Rhonda
                          Charlotte: Timekeeper
                          Vibe-Watcher: Victoria
                          Snacks: Clint*

6. Consensus Model and Exercise (20 minutes)

There is some information on working by consensus in the orientation package. Rhonda also distributed additional sheets on making decisions. Rhonda emphasized that the key she has found useful is to ask oneself "Can I support this?" Also, she has found that there is significant responsibility to understand the reasons for your own opinions, to share these and listen openly to those of others. Ahmed noted that it is always important to remember that you represent other students and to ask "what is in students' interests?" Charene added that consensus requires patience! We did a values ranking activity to engage in some self-examination, and then chose out top 5 values in groups of about 3. It engendered some interesting conversations and experiments with consensus.

7. Budget Report (5 minutes)

Chart now has columns for budget and actuals.
